JAMES BOYLE IS INSTANTLY KILLED

MOTORCYCLE AND AUTO IN COLLISION

BOYLE, ON MOTORCYCLE, FOUND
MANGLED IN THE WRECKAGE
CAR OCCUPANTS REPORTED AS PRACTICALLY UN-
HURT

The coroner's jury at the Boyle inquest brought in a verdict this afternoon that James Boyle met accidental death on account of an accident with a Ford touring car and a motorcycle on which he was riding between 12:30 a. m. and 1:30 a. m., October 16, on Kingwood street on the part known as the fill.

Carried a considerable distance after a head-on collision on the East Brainerd fill with a car occupied by David Montgomery and Herbert Gardner, James Boyle, aged 19 years, driving a motorcycle, was instantly killed at about 1 a. m. today. Gardner is in the hospital with cuts on face and bruises about the body. Montgomery escaped with minor injuries.

Boyle's mangled body was picked at the rear of the car.

The Ford car was a rented car from the Star garage here, it having been taken out in the early part of the evening by Mansford Norquist to attend a party at Gilbert Lake. Norquist was not an occupant of the car at the time of the accident, he having been taken to his home before the accident.

The car was being driven west along Kingwood street over the fill when the fatality happened. James Boyle was returning to his home in Northeast Brainerd and was traveling east. The accident took place about the middle of the fill and the force of the impact is said to have carried the motorcycle and young Boyle some distance. Boyle's body was gruesomely mangled.

The boys were returning from taking two girls home from Northeast Brainerd. They previously had taken lunch downtown, took Norquist home, and later the girls to their respective homes.

James Boyle, or as he was known more in the city, as "Jimmy" Boyle, was a pattern maker's apprentice at the Northern Pacific shops. He was soon to have become a pattern maker, he having served three years as an apprentice.

The dead man has been a resident of Brainerd all his life and is widely known here. He has been raised from infancy by his grandmother, Mrs. Peter Vaars, 920 3rd Avenue N. E. His mother died when James was an infant.

James Boyle was going on his 20th year. His birthday was to be celebrated on December 7. He was always fond of motorcycles. He took a special interest in his work in the N. P. shops and was well liked there.

Surviving members of the family are his father, John Circle, two sisters, Mrs. Mary Sargeant, Mrs. Margaret Amundson, and one brother, William, all of Circle, Montana. He is also survived by three uncles and four aunts, George and Edward Vaars, Brainerd, Joseph Vaars, of Puyallup, Wash., Mrs. Anna Klippness, International Falls; Mrs. Herman Hunter, Ironton; Mrs. Gertrude Wolford, Brainerd, and Mrs. Colman Miller of Brainerd.

At the Inquest

The jurors at the inquest held this morning and afternoon were: Louis D. Hohman, J. F. Vadnais, A. G. Schnell, Mike Kracher, Robert Nichol, Conrad Ilse, Jr.

Frank Carney

Frank Carney was the first witness called. He stated that he was going west on the west side of the fill when he saw the motorcycle coming along. He was unable to say whether there were lights on either vehicle, but he estimated that the motorcycle was traveling at a rate of speed of 50 miles an hour. He stated that he had been to the dance at Gilbert Lake and that he had seen the boys there but that he could not say whether they had been drinking or not. He heard the crash and returned, finding the body of James Boyle at the rear of the

NEW FEDERAL INVESTIGATION FOR EVANGELIST

KIDNAPING STORY OF AIMEE SEMPLER McPHERSON PROBED FURTHER

POSTAL INSPECTORS TO TRACE TWO "AVENGER" LETTERS

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Los Angeles, Oct. 16.—A new federal investigation of the Rev. Aimee Semple McPherson's kidnapping story loomed today when United States Attorney J. G. Channesian said that postal inspectors will be assigned to trace two "avenger" letters received by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, which purported to come from Mrs. McPherson's self-described kidnappers.

Channesian announced his office was "very interested" in the letters. They were written on the stationery of S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Seilaft, chief accuser of the evangelist, and informed Mrs. Kennedy that Hahn was acting for the kidnappers. The attorney admitted that the stationery was identical with his, but denied knowledge of the writing of the letters.

When the defense begins the presentation of its evidence to refute the state's charge that Mrs. McPherson prepared false evidence to support her fake kidnapping story, the evangelist herself is expected to take the witness stand in self defense.

The state has rested its case. The titian-haired evangelist has a commanding personality and her attorney believes she will make a good impression as a witness. She has had few opportunities to speak since the hearing began.

District Attorney Keyes has denied immunity to Kenneth G. Ormiston, missing radio operator, in return for his surrender.

The state charges that Mrs. McPherson spent part of the time of her disappearance with Ormiston and that the pair conspired to manufacture evidence to support her story of abduction in Mexico by bandits. Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 16.—The telegram from Winnipeg purporting to have been sent by Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator, had not been traced today.

The telegram said that Ormiston, who is wanted as a witness in the conspiracy trial of Aimee Semple McPherson, was in Winnipeg and willing to give evidence if granted immunity from prosecution.

However, authorities are inclined to believe that the telegram was a hoax, possibly dispatched by a person not of sound mind.

Except for newspaper dispatches, police have no word from Los Angeles regarding the sending of the telegram.

The possibility that Ormiston might be in Winnipeg had been considered previously and suspicion cast on several persons who resembled the description of the missing operator. These "leads" however, failed of result.

An attempt is being made to determine who sent the telegram.

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Completing its return voyage from Detroit in record time, the naval dirigible Los Angeles arrived over her hangar in the United States navy air station here today at 5:20 A. PROSECUTION SEEKS MISSING GIRL STENOGRAPHER

MARION COUNTY GRAND JURY INVESTIGATES INDIANA POLITICS

RECESS TO MONDAY, IN MEAN- TIME SEEK STEPHENSON CORRESPONDENCE

By GERALD P. OVERTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16.—With the Marion county grand jury's investigation of Indiana politics recessed until Monday, Prosecutor William H. Remy and his assistants redoubled their efforts today to locate Mildred Meade, former stenographer for D. C. Stephenson, deposed Klan dragon.

The entire future course of the inquiry into charges that Stephenson, as Klan dragon, set up a corrupt supergovernment in the state, depended upon the success of the prosecutor to locate checks and documents of Stephenson, it was believed. Remy is convinced the girl can shed light on the whereabouts of the documents.

Miss Meade has been missing from her home in Indianapolis for more than a week. With the checks and letters of Stephenson she is believed to hold, Remy hopes to base the political activities for the jury of the former dragon, who is now a lifer at the Michigan City state penitentiary, serving a murder sentence for the death of an Indianapolis girl.

Another element of mystery was injected into the grand jury inquiry yesterday when a man, whose identity was known only to Remy, was called into the grand jury room, carrying with him two large black bags, apparently filled with papers.

Maxine Elliott, Stephenson's former secretary, was also questioned before the grand jury after she had made statements to newspapermen that politicians "swarmed" around Stephenson's offices here when he was head of the Klan. Before adjourning over the week-end, the grand jury heard the testimony of State Senator Thomas Daly, who was reputed ready to tell a detailed account of the deposed dragon's political activities.

No definite statement was yet forthcoming from Thomas Adams, head of the committee of editors, whose charges of corruption preceded the grand jury investigation as to whether he would go to Chicago Monday for a conference with Senator James Reed, chairman of the senate primary investigating committee.

He wired Reed this week appealing to him to have his committee look into the Indiana corruption charges and indicated he might meet Reed in Chicago Monday when the senate committee reconvenes there. Doubt as to whether the Reed committee holds authority to investigate corruption charges made by Adams was expressed by Senator James E. Watson.

The Reed committee, according to Watson, was authorized to investigate the 1926 primary election. Stephenson, around whom the corruption charges center, was sent to the state prison nearly a year ago for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholzer and for six months before his commitment to the state prison he was held in jail in Indianapolis.

Frieda Larson, a dressmaker who was with Weese, pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication, paid a $10 fine and was released. Mrs. Weese did not comment on the case.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 16.—(UP)—An expedition that will end romantically in the jungle fastnesses of Africa started prosaically from Winona today.

Their friends were at the station to bid them God speed, wish them preservation from lions' fangs and request mementoes in the form of lion skin rugs, native spears and grass mats.

When they returned from a trip to Africa during the winter of 1924 and 1925, Mr. and Mrs. King brought back many African trophies.

The party will reach Mombasa, Africa, on November 29, and from there will journey by rail to Moshi. There a safari, or expedition, of 150 natives in charge of white men will wait for them before striking out for lion haunts where few civilized persons have been before.

The Winona party will spend the entire winter in Africa, returning in the spring. Besides bringing down game with rifles, the Kings will add to their photographic collection.

SAYS MAILS MUST BE GUARDED AND LIVES OF EMPLOYEES SAFEGUARDED

DURING THE WAR MARINES WERE USED TO GUARD REG- ISTERED MAIL

Washington, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Postmaster General New today was considering the advisability of using United States marines to protect the mails in transit because of the recent epidemic of postal robberies. "If it takes the army and navy to do it, the United States mails must be protected and the lives of postal employees safeguarded," New said.

During the war and at the time of the Gerald Chapman reign of terror, marines were used to guard registered mail in transit. New will ask for executive authority to have the "devil dogs" resume this work should postal thefts continue.

Congress will be asked this fall by the postmaster general to appropriate funds for use in the work, New said.

In addition to these steps the postal chief intends to seek a law for capital punishment for armed attack on the mails.

"Wholesale hanging," observes New, "might go further than anything to curb the enthusiasm of murderous robbers."

The new plans for curbing mail holdups grew directly from the brutal holdup in Elizabeth Thursday. The Coolidge cabinet yesterday canvassed the situation fully and New's announcement followed.

Washington, Oct. 16.—(UP)—United States marines will be used to guard mails from bandits.

Postmaster General New today received authority from Major General John A. LeJeune to place marines at railway terminals and on postal cars and mail trucks transporting valuable mail.

CAPITAL CITY PREPARES TO GREET QUEEN

FROM PRESIDENT DOWN WASH- INGTON TO WELCOME RU- MANIAN RULER

APPROVED STYLES IN BOWS ARE PRACTICED BY SOCIETY BEAUS AND MATRONS

By LUDWELL DENNY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Oct. 16.—From President Coolidge down, the capital city is ready to give Queen Marie a royal welcome when she arrives here Monday afternoon.

Society beaus and matrons are practicing the approved styles in bows and courtesies and all the complicated accessories of meeting royalty.

In the midst of gay preparations for the welcome, which is to be capped with a White House dinner on Tuesday evening, some lines of care are discernable, however, on official brows.

First, the Rumanian delegation is reported displeased with certain advertisements in the Philadelphia press for the royal appearance at the Sesquicentennial, "billioning her like an actress," as the critics put it.

Then there is the story, which refuses to be downed that Rumanian representatives are receiving Hollywood movie offers for her majesty. This has set Washington society to arguing the pros and cons of royal properties, is creating an atmosphere embarrassing to officials, who insist the queen's visit should be kept upon "high plane."

The White House door will be open for her Monday afternoon. The queen is expected to hasten from the station to the Rumanian legation and soon afterward present her compliments in person to the president.

In the evening a private dinner will be given for the royal party at the legation, high government officials and members of the diplomatic corps attending.

On Tuesday her majesty will make a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon and to the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington and in the evening be the guest of honor at a White House dinner.

The party will leave the capital on Wednesday for New York, motoring as far as Annapolis and Baltimore.

Owatonna, Minn., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Two women are dead, a child is believed to have been fatally injured and three other members of a party of six are seriously hurt as the result of a crossing accident here today.

Mrs. S. Peters, of Pepin, Wis. The injured: Daughter of Mrs. Wendlandt, in critical condition and unconscious at hospital with fractured skull.

Herman Drews, driver of the automobile, badly bruised. Miss Irene Peters, daughter of the driver, badly bruised.

Drews had stopped his automobile at the Rose street crossing over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad to watch for any approaching train and started again just as a passenger train appeared around a curve in the track which was hidden by an embankment.

The automobile was carried 100 yards on the pilot of the locomotive. Mrs. Wendlandt was killed midway from the place of the collision, falling from the automobile and being crushed under the wheels of the engine.

DUG HIS OWN GRAVE, NOW WANTS TO LIVE TO 116

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Having cheated the years, Francis M. Collins, Pittsburgh, Pa., the man who years ago created a sensation when he dug his own grave and set up a tombstone, today is receiving the congratulations of his friends, the occasion being his 100th birthday.

Collins an inmate of the National Soldiers Home here is the "son of a soldier" William Collins, who served in the wars of 1812 and the Mexican war. Collins himself was a hero of the Civil war and has been an inmate of the home here for the past 28 years.

One night 18 years ago Collins with a pick and shovel as his only companions went to a cemetery in which he owned a lot and dug his own grave. After finishing the job he set up a tombstone, and then taking his pick and shovel left as mysteriously as he had come.

Superintendent Curry of the cemetery, however, saw Collins in the act and the next morning wires from coast to coast were broadcasting the story of the veteran and the grave which he dug under cover of night.

Today Collins' ambition is to reach the age of his father, who was 116 before he died.

NEW REGIME IN AMERICAN LEGION ORGANIZATION

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The former administration of the American Legion gave way today to the new regime of Howard P. Savage, Chicago, newly elected commander, regarded as leader of the progressive group.

Savage was chosen yesterday over J. Munroe Johnson, South Carolina, after 21 ballots had been cast in the legion convention without a majority for any candidate.

Savage left this afternoon on the Illinois delegation's special train for home, but previously notified all appointive officers of the legion they would be retained in their present posts. He said he would not attempt to install his own friends and backers.

NEW MAKES STATEMENT AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

SAYS MAILS MUST BE GUARDED AND LIVES OF EMPLOYEES SAFEGUARDED

DURING THE WAR MARINES WERE USED TO GUARD REGISTERED MAIL

Washington, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Postmaster General New today was considering the advisability of using United States marines to protect the mails in transit because of the recent epidemic of postal robberies.

"If it takes the army and navy to do it, the United States mails must be protected and the lives of postal employees safeguarded," New said.

During the war and at the time of the Gerald Chapman reign of terror, marines were used to guard registered mail in transit. New will ask for executive authority to have the "devil dogs" resume this work should postal thefts continue.

Congress will be asked this fall by the postmaster general to appropriate funds for use in the work, New said.

In addition to these steps the postal chief intends to seek a law for capital punishment for armed attack on the mails.

"Wholesale hanging," observes New, "might go further, than anything to curb the enthusiasm of murderous robbers."

The new plans for curbing mail holdups grew directly from the brutal holdup in Elizabeth Thursday. The Coolidge cabinet yesterday canvassed the situation fully and New's announcement followed.

Washington, Oct. 16.—(UP)—United States marines will be used to guard mails from bandits.

Postmaster General New today received authority from Major General John A. LeJeune to place marines at railway terminals and on postal cars and mail trucks transporting valuable mail.

PRES. COOLIDGE DENOUNCES AS 'DISLOYAL' NONVOTERS

Washington, Oct. 16.—(UP)—President Coolidge denouncing non-voters as "disloyal" called upon all impartial voters of this nation to express their opinions at the polls.

Those arrested are: R. A. McCrady, president of the bank, who told police of the alleged swindle.

William Kelly, vice president of the institution and head of the Carpenters' union in Pittsburgh. J. L. Nelson, treasurer. Frank T. Redman.

The man sought by police, said to have disappeared with the bank funds, is Charles E. Knapp. Police were told that Knapp, acting as an agent for the bank, had been given the funds to purchase certain bonds from a person who was willing to sell out a large quantity at a loss.

CAPITAL CITY PREPARES TO GREET QUEEN

FROM PRESIDENT DOWN WASHINGTON TO WELCOME RUMANIAN RULER

APPROVED STYLES IN BOWS ARE PRACTICED BY SOCIETY BEAUS AND MATRONS

By LUDWELL DENNY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 16.—From President Coolidge down, the capital city is ready to give Queen Marie a royal welcome when she arrives here Monday afternoon.

Society beaus and matrons are practicing the approved styles in bows and courtesies and all the complicated accessories of meeting royalty.

In the midst of gay preparations for the welcome, which is to be capped with a White House dinner on Tuesday evening, some lines of care are discernable, however, on official brows.

First, the Rumanian delegation is reported displeased with certain advertisements in the Philadelphia press for the royal appearance at the Sesquiennial, "bidding her like an actress," as the critics put it.

Then there is the story, which refuses to be downed that Rumanian representatives are receiving Hollywood movie offers for her majesty. This has set Washington society to arguing the pros and cons of royal properties, is creating an atmosphere embarrassing to officials, who insist the queen's visit should be kept upon "high plane."

The White House door will be open for her Monday afternoon. The queen is expected to hasten from the station to the Rumanian legation and soon afterward present her compliments in person to the president.

In the evening a private dinner will be given for the royal party at the legation, high government officials and members of the diplomatic corps attending.

On Tuesday her majesty will make a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon and to the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington and in the evening be the guest of honor at a White House dinner.

The party will leave the capital on Wednesday for New York, motor as far as Annapolis and Baltimore.

LITTLE GIRL SUFFERS SEVERE SKULL FRACTURE

AUTOMOBILE IS CARRIED 100 YARDS ON PILOT OF LOCOMOTIVE MOTIVE

ONE WOMAN FELL MIDWAY FROM PLACE OF COLLISION GROUND UNDER ENGINE

Owatonna, Minn., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Two women are dead, a child is believed to have been fatally injured and three other members of a party of six are seriously hurt as the result of a crossing accident here today.

The dead: Mrs. William Wendlandt, of Owatonna.

Mrs. S. Peters, of Pepin, Wis.

The injured: Daughter of Mrs. Wendlandt, in critical condition and unconscious at hospital with fractured skull.

Herman Drews, driver of the automobile, badly bruised. Miss Irene Peters, daughter of Mrs. Peters, badly cut and bruised and possibly suffering from internal injuries.

Mildred Drew, daughter of the driver, badly bruised.

Drews had stopped his automobile at the Rose street crossing over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad to watch for any approaching train and started again just as a passenger train appeared around a curve in the track which was hidden by an embankment.

The automobile was carried 100 yards on the pilot of the locomotive. Mrs. Wendlandt was killed midway from the place of the collision, falling from the automobile and being crushed under the wheels of the engine.

DUG HIS OWN GRAVE, NOW WANTS TO LIVE TO 116

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Having cheated the years, Francis M. Collins, Pittsburgh, Pa., the man who years ago created a sensation when he dug his own grave and set up a tombstone, today is receiving the congratulations of his friends, the occasion being his 100th birthday.

Collins an inmate of the National Soldiers Home here is the "son of a soldier" William Collins, who served in the wars of 1812 and the Mexican war. Collins himself was a hero of the Civil war and has been an inmate of the home here for the past 28 years.

One night 18 years ago Collins with a pick and shovel as his only companions went to a cemetery in which he owned a lot and dug his own grave. After finishing the job he set up a tombstone, and then taking his pick and shovel left as mysteriously as he had come.

Superintendent Curry of the cemetery, however, saw Collins in the act and the next morning wires from coast to coast were broadcasting the story of the veteran and the grave which he dug under cover of night.

Today Collins' ambition is to reach the age of his father, who was 116 before he died.

NEW REGIME IN AMERICAN LEGION ORGANIZATION

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The former administration of the American Legion gave way today to the new regime of Howard P. Savage, Chicago, newly elected commander, regarded as leader of the progressive group.

Savage was chosen yesterday over J. Munroe Johnson, South Carolina, after 21 ballots had been cast in the legion convention without a majority for any candidate.

Savage left this afternoon on the Illinois delegation's special train for home, but previously notified all appointive officers of the legion they would be retained in their present posts. He said he would not attempt to install his own friends and backers.

"The Midnight Flyer" at Lyceum Tonight

The attraction at the Lyceum tonight only is a smashing melodrama of railroad life, "The Midnight Flyer," and lovers of action pictures with a vivid background can ill afford to miss it. This latest F. B. O. attraction is based on two stories by Arthur Guy Empey, and the material which was given to J. Grubb Alexander, in these tales was evidently rich in incident and drama, to judge from the completed product.

It surges across the screen with startling speed, gathering momentum as it goes until it winds up in a climax that fairly whistles with thrills. The leap from the freight engine to the cab of the runaway special, the fight in the lurching locomotive, and a head on collision are a few of the incidents that make "The Midnight Flyer" stand out above any other railroad drama.

"Channel Fever"

Seasickness has a strange counterpart in what is now called "channel fever"—a set of distressing symptoms that sometimes strike passengers when a ship, after a rough ocean voyage, enters a landlocked harbor where there is very smooth water. The effects are something like that of real seasickness, and evidently are a result of the sudden change of environment equilibrium.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

SEN. WILLIAM BORAH
An early morning ride on horseback keeps Senator William Borah in fighting trim.

Every day shortly after daybreak the Idaho senator mounts his "nag" and enjoys a brisk gallop through the labyrinth of Washington bridge paths.

Occasionally Borah "works out" in the gymnasium. He has a powerful build and is quite a handball player, it is said.

Early Roads

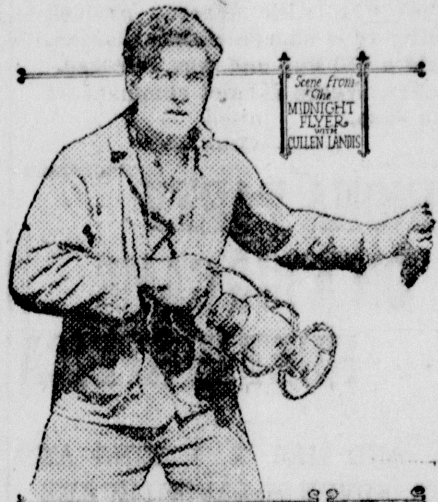

A pike road was first called a turnpike. Turnpike is another name for tollgate, and the name was applied to roads upon which tolls were collected.

The Guido scale is a tabulation of the tones of the gamut on the left hand, which was formerly used in teaching solmization. It is attributed to Guido d'Arezzo. Each note of the scale was assigned to a joint of the hand, to which the singing master pointed.

"The Midnight Flyer" at Lyceum Tonight

The attraction at the Lyceum tonight only is a smashing melodrama of railroad life, "The Midnight Flyer," and lovers of action pictures with a vivid background can ill afford to miss it. This latest F. B. O. attraction is based on two stories by Arthur Guy Empey, and the material which was given to J. Grubb Alexander, in these tales was evidently rich in incident and drama, to judge from the completed product.

It surges across the screen with startling speed, gathering momentum as it goes until it winds up in a climax that fairly whistles with thrills. The leap from the freight special to the cab of the runaway engine, the fight in the lurching locomotive, and a head on collision are a few of the incidents that make "The Midnight Flyer" stand out above any other railroad drama.

"Channel Fever"

Seasickness has a strange counterpart in what is now called "channel fever"—a set of distressing symptoms that sometimes strike passengers when a ship, after a rough ocean voyage, enters a landlocked harbor where there is very smooth water. The effects are something like that of real seasickness, and evidently are a result of the sudden change of environment equilibrium.

CONVENTION DAY IN CITY SATURDAY

Aad Temple of Duluth Puts on Colorful Drill, Band and Drum Concert

TALL CEDARS GATHERING

Their Convention Opens in Afternoon, Followed by Salvation Army District Meeting

Leaving Duluth at 11 o'clock last evening, a special train consisting of 11 coaches arrived in Brainerd this morning at 3:45 o'clock bearing 159 Shriners from Temple Aad of Duluth who were en route to Bemidji where a big celebration is being held today. They left Brainerd at 10:15 a. m. after parading for an hour through the main thoroughfares of the city.

Despite the chilly temperature a fair sized crowd turned out to witness the colorful parade, the blue and gold uniforms of the marchers forming a galaxy of color seldom seen on the streets of the city.

Leading the parade were a number of Brainerd citizens, and visitors followed by the 35 piece Temple band from Duluth. The drum major, a very striking figure, led the band which played popular selections. The drum corps were next in line, 20 drummers leading pep to the procession. A small cannon drawn by a number of delegates emitting volleys or shot at opportune moments was followed by another group of citizens and visitors.

The exhibition of the drill team, numbering 18, was a novel demonstration of marching in double quick time on South Sixth street that drew much applause. The marvelous precision and timing of the men while performing their intricate lines of march was noteworthy and interesting to say the least.

A. E. Schar, an artist, representing the Duluth Herald accompanied the Shriners and took pictures of their sojourn here. The entire delegation, 150 strong breakfasted at the Ransford this morning.

From 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. today, local Tall Cedar officials have been busy welcoming visiting delegates at the convention headquarters in the Iron Exchange hall. This evening from 6 to 7 o'clock a banquet will be served in the hall with a street parade from 7 to 8 p. m. From 8 to 9 o'clock there will be a business session at the Masonic hall followed by the Royal Court Degree put on by Duluth Forest. At 10 o'clock the Sidonian degree will be put on by Lake Forest, No. 58, Brainerd.

A welcome supper will be served at 5 o'clock at the Salvation Army barracks for all delegates of the Salvation Army Young People's convention. At 7 o'clock there will be an open air meeting and parade followed by a free demonstration at the U. C. T. auditorium at which the Minneapolis Young People's band will play during the evening. The convention will continue until Monday.

To the Voters of Crow Wing and Morrison Counties

From July 2, 1924, to July 7, 1926, just two years, Minnesota has had 95 State Bank failures, carrying deposits of approximately $20,000,000.00. THIS IS AN AVERAGE OF NEARLY ONE BUSTED BANK A WEEK. Only 17 of these banks have reopened.

I Favor a Bank Guarantee Law, to Make Banking Safer In Minnesota

We need farm and school aid; tourist development; change in game and fish laws to conform with our southern counties.

The office of State Senator for the 53rd District pays a salary of $2,000.00 for four years service, six months of that time must be spent in the State Capitol at St. Paul. The voters of this District should realize that sum of money will not any more than pay traveling and living expenses in St. Paul, for the four years of service.

I have neither the time nor the money to put on a costly campaign as other candidates are doing.

If it is necessary to spend large sums of money to be elected to an office of this kind I will have to concede defeat.

If the voters of Crow Wing and Morrison Counties elect me, I promise to represent them honestly and fearlessly.

I consider the position of State Senator an honorary position, an opportunity to serve you and not as a money making position, through SERVING SPECIAL INTERESTS.

If I lose this election I lose nothing financially, if I win I gain an opportunity to serve my fellowmen and win their respect.

car and the car at the south side of the road.

Alden Wallace

Alden Wallace, aged 15 years, testified that he was with Frank Carney and corroborated his statements.

He stated that when they returned to the wreckage that one of the boys in the car cried hysterically "we killed a man." He stated that it was a Ford touring car and that the body was lying back of the car and the motorcycle almost under the car. He said he could not smell any liquor on either of the boys. The car he said was at the south side of the road.

David Montgomery

David Montgomery, aged 19 years, 414 B street, one of the boys in the car, stated that the first thing he knew about the accident was when the crash came.

"I was in the car. We were going across the fill. I didn't have any idea of any accident until we had struck him. We were going about 15 or 20 miles an hour. The lights on our car were dim. It was about in the middle of the road but after the motorcycle hit us the car swayed to the south side of the road. We found the motorcycle partly under the car and Boyle's body was behind the car. He did not have any headlights on his motorcycle. We had a rented car from the Star garage. I was sitting in the front seat. I had one drink about 9 o'clock at Gilbert lake but no more and that didn't affect me a bit. The car was rented at 7:30 p. m. We did not see the motorcycle coming. There were seven of us in the party in the early part of the evening, four boys and three girls. I couldn't tell how far we went after the accident happened. Mansford Norquist paid $10 for the bond for the car."

Donald Campbell

Donald Campbell, 18 years old testified that he heard the crash and on returning to the accident put young Boyle into a car and rushed him to the hospital. He thought he was dead when he put him in the car but took him to the hospital. He stated that he could not smell liquor on the breath of either of the boys. There were no lights on the Ford car when he got there, he said.

Walter Gardner

Walter Gardner, aged 15 years, brother of Herbert Gardner, stated that he had seen Boyle in Van's Lunch room just before the accident. He stated that Boyle was also out at the dance at Gilbert lake. He stated he did not see any lights on the motorcycle. He stated that his brother had not been drinking.

Herbert Gardner

Herbert Gardner, aged 17 years, driver of the car stated that they had rented a car from the Star garage and had gone to the dance at Gilbert lake. They had had trouble with the lights of the car and had returned to the garage and had the trouble remedied. He said that he had not had anything to drink that night and that there was no liquor in the car as far as he knew. He further stated that lights were such that they could only see five feet ahead.

Alfred Englehart

Alfred Englehart, 16 years old stated that he had seen Boyle start out down Sixth street from Van's Lunch room.

Patrolman Swanson

Patrolman Swanson stated that he had been called to the accident about 1:15 o'clock but that was after the body had been taken away. He said that he had examined the tracks and that the car had skidded from the center of the road.

Coroner D. E. Whitney

Coroner D. E. Whitney in giving his observations taken when he was called stated that he had noticed parts of the motorcycle engine at least 50 feet back from where the car came to a stop and that marks in the road indicated that the motorcycle had been scraped along the road for 25 to 30 feet. He was of the opinion that the car was travelling faster than the time stated or else the motorcycle could not have been carried the distance indicated.

M. E. DeRosier

M. E. DeRosier, one of the proprietors of the Star garage stated that Norquist had rented the car, and that he had improved the condition of the lights when the car returned after 8 o'clock.

George Vaars

George Vaars stated that from what he learned James Boyle had gone out to Gilbert lake in a car, that he had returned to the house and taken his motorcycle. He stated that his sister had seen the lights on Boyle's motorcycle.

Arthur Sullivan, assistant county attorney questioned the witnesses. Court Reporter E. J. Egan took the evidence.

Odd but Proper Names

Divi divi, and ager agar, sound like eastern versions of Walla Walla, but they are, in reality, tropical imports used respectively for tanning processes and germ cultures. Jeltong is the basic component of chewing gum, while the mysterious sounding shuyu, from Yokohama, turns out to be a humble soy bean, used in this country for forage, but used in its indigent habitat as food.

Wise Jimmy

Jimmy had bought the wrong article for his mother at the grocery and, afraid to take it to her, he remained out of doors until his daddy came. Going up to him he exclaimed, "Daddy, will you take this to mudder, then I'll go around the back door and hear what she says to you?"

To the Voters of Crow Wing and Morrison Counties

From July 2, 1924, to July 7, 1926, just two years, Minnesota has had 95 State Bank failures, carrying deposits of approximately $20,000,000.00. THIS IS AN AVERAGE OF NEARLY ONE BUSTED BANK A WEEK. Only 17 of these banks have reopened.

I Favor a Bank Guarantee Law, to Make Banking Safer In Minnesota

We need farm and school aid; tourist development; change in game and fish laws to conform with our southern counties.

The office of State Senator for the 53rd District pays a salary of $2,000.00 for four years service, six months of that time must be spent in the State Capitol at St. Paul. The voters of this District should realize that sum of money will not any more than pay traveling and living expenses in St. Paul, for the four years of service.

I have neither the time nor the money to put on a costly campaign as other candidates are doing.

If it is necessary to spend large sums of money to be elected to an office of this kind I will have to concede defeat.

If the voters of Crow Wing and Morrison Counties elect me, I promise to represent them honestly and fearlessly.

I consider the position of State Senator an honorary position, an opportunity to serve you and not as a money making position, through SERVING SPECIAL INTERESTS.

If I lose this election I lose nothing financially, if I win I gain an opportunity to serve my fellowmen and win their respect.

BRAINERD MUSICAL CLUB

ONE of the factors in the city, cultivating the taste for good music and in turn an appreciation of the higher things in life, which in a way are just as important as the more worldly, material things of life, is our Brainerd Ladies Musical club.

We wonder how they manage, every year, to get such an imposing array of talent. The committees and officers having these concerts in charge are to be commended in their choice of artists, people who command the highest fees for their appearances. Coupled with their artistic tastes our local club officers and committees also show rare business sense.

The Brainerd Musical club, in the variety and value of its programs so offered active and social members and the public at large who may patronize such concerts, is doing splendid work in educating people in a musical way. Music lovers and students miss a rare opportunity to gain broadened culture if they do not belong to the Musical club, or if they do not attend the concerts.

In spite of its established position in community life of Brainerd, the worthy things it promotes, the love for the best in music which it so assiduously cultivates, the Musical club is still like every other business organization or fraternal order. It must put on annual campaigns to renew and increase its membership. It must personally solicit people.

We can say, in this regard, that one of the pillars of strength and devotion in a membership campaign is Mrs. Henry I. Cohen. When other members find it hard or impossible to convert or retain a member, Mrs. Cohen can be depended upon to use her persuasive powers, and she hardly ever fails.

For the opening concert of this season, Sunday afternoon, October 17, at the Park Theatre, the Musical club presents Henry Farman, an artist under the national concert direction of Harry and Arthur Culbertson, of New York and Chicago. This violinist has an international reputation and is on the crest of the wave of popularity. Like many others who have played in Brainerd, he knows he will be greeted with an appreciative and understanding audience, and with such conditions we are assured that the opening concert will be another one of those rare programs to be treasured in one's memory and whose soft nuances will continue to ring in one's ears long after Mr. Farman has put his violin and bow to rest in their case.

SHRINE REMINISCENCES

SOME 20 years ago, Col. A. J. Halsted of our city, was a member of a delegation from Zuhrah Temple, Minneapolis, which went to Duluth to help institute Aad Temple, whose members visited Brainerd today.

Col. Halsted always dwells with pleasure on an incident of the evening, right in the midst of Shrine festivities, when an alarm of fire was turned in. The building was actually on fire and the fire department responded.

At the start off of the alarm, the candidates who had marched across the hot sands and braved any amount of dangers, real and fancied, faced the call of "fire" with stony stoicism, thinking it was just another act on the extensive program meted out to them.

After the clash of fire equipment, the deluge of water and smoke, the candidates came to the conclusion the fire was an act of God and that the Shrine committee putting on the initiation was not responsible for the alarm at the door and the upheaval on the desert.

Jesse Norton was Potentate at the institution of Aad Temple.

ADVANTAGE OF CEMENT HIGHWAYS

COMPLETION of paving on Highway No. 27 will offer an all the year around highway to the Twin Cities and territory intervening. It will do much to stimulate winter travel, thus benefiting local garages, the sale of automobiles and accessories.

The extension of cement paving means a reduction of upkeep costs. It insures a practically permanent highway, one that is easily cleared of snow and will do much to stimulate the year around business.

Before No. 27 was completed, Brainerd in certain periods of bad roads or breakups, had practically no farmer trade from gravel or dirt road sections. With the extension of cement highways comes a more equitable distribution of farmer and other trade.

BRAINERD WELCOMES CONVENTIONS

BRAINERD extends a hearty welcome to the many conventions converging on Brainerd today and hopes all will gain a favorable impression of the city. Our citizens are hospitable and public spirited.

We have a nice town and the many improvements made are apparent to all visitors. We have a splendid environment of farming country, fine lakes, mining section, etc.

We bid all convention people a cordial welcome and hope they will enjoy every minute of their stay in Brainerd, and having become so acquainted, to put us on their regular visiting list so they may enjoy other seasonal recreations, especially those of the lake territory.

QUEEN MARIE of Rumania, now on her way to America, has endeared herself to the passengers of the Leviathan. It indicates that she will appeal in the same way to American people generally when she begins her tour of the United States. It is with pleasure we note that she will also visit St. Paul and Minneapolis. Visits of potentates of Europe in America do much to increase the knowledge of sovereigns in regard to local conditions and give them particularly an idea of the immensity and size of our nation, of its varied activities and of its population of city and countryside.

TODAY a writer called at the Brainerd Dispatch office to sell a service on extension and encouragement of agriculture. Too late, Brainerd and Crow Wing county started a program of dairy herd improvement, better farming and all the other things to make this an outstanding agricultural section, years ago. Our section, instead of taking an academic view of things, has rolled up its sleeves and is trying to better conditions with actual achievements.

BRAINERD's widened intersection at Sixth and Laurel streets was completed just in time for our three-in-one convention day.

Dr. J. A. Thabes of this city has been appointed to the position of state inspector for Northern Minnesota by the Minnesota State Board of Health and received notification this morning from Secretary H. M. Bracken. This is a rather important appointment and besides being quite an honor and a recognition of valuable services already rendered, the position carries with it a commensurate compensation.

This morning Bones & Howe purchased from Olson & Hanson of Aitkin about 2,000,000 feet of logs. Most of them are in St. Louis county where it is understood that the gentlemen have many more million feet to sell.

Yesterday afternoon a distinguished party of professional and business men from Minneapolis arrived in the city and went north to hunt around Backus for a week or so. The party consisted of W. A. Eggleston, C. H. Childs, Dr. H. L. Wilkins, A. D. Chamberlain and H. Roberts. They will be joined in a few days by Editor McLean of the Minneapolis Journal.

Henry Harrison who has been in the employ of the Dispatch for many years has sold his home in this city and has bought another at Mora, this state. Mr. Harrison's family has already gone to Mora to live but he will not go until spring, having retained his position in the Dispatch until that time. Mr. Harrison eventually expects to engage in business in the thriving village of Mora.

LIMIT TO GOOD INTENTION

The boss was tired of being constantly importuned by one of the workers for the next week's salary, and finally said:

"Well, shh," replied Mose, studiously, "de fust thing Ah'd do would be to pay all mah debts—as fah as it'd go."

"Your husband seems to be pretty well posted on baseball," remarked the caller.

A Spanish Bungalow Type Suitable for all Climates

Five-Room Bungalow No. 540

Designed for American Face Brick Association

MODIFIED Spanish houses of this type, so popular in California and Florida, are winning favor in more northern climates by those discriminating people who are seeking something "other."

These houses should be built of the lightest shades of brick, with a roof of more colorful Spanish tile. Time and the merciless attack of the changing seasons will never disfigure them as it always does the less durable materials, too frequently used.

Graceful brick arches and paving; wrought iron grilles windows, railings and flower boxes; lattice work hung with brilliant flowers, awnings, and gayly trimmed curtains combine to produce a charming effect of colorful beauty.

With porches on opposite sides of the house, a cool shady spot can always be found. The porch off the dining room is also connected with the kitchen. It is an ideal spot for outdoor meals and should face east to avoid the hot afternoon sun.

Pride keeps his soul clean and his spirit sparkling.—Berkshire Eagle.

Agriculture in Alaska

Visitors in Alaska are astonished to see well-kept gardens furnishing the inhabitants with fresh vegetables. The popular conception of Alaska is a region of snow, ice and terrific storms. Such is far from the case in the valley of the Koyukuk river where from May to September, prolific vegetable gardens are cultivated by the white men. The days are long and crops mature quickly.

Utilizing Sewer Gas

An Australian engineer has put sewer gas to work driving an engine. He built a 16-horsepower plant and collected the gas which emanated from the septic tanks of his own town of Parramatta to use as fuel for his engine. The supply turned out to be so sure that the plant can be left to run for days at a time without any attention. In this particular installation the work is merely to pump out the sewage itself; but nevertheless it saved the cost of the coal.

DR. ROY SMITH'S SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

"I'LL SWIM IT OR SINK"

Gertrude Ederle is reported to have said to her sister as she waded into the surf at Cape Gris Nez, "I'll swim it or sink." Several times during the gruelling trip her friends urged her, and once her trainer ordered her to give up and come out of the water. Her only reply was, "What for?"

To the determined girl who had said "I'll swim it or sink," there was no sufficient reason for coming out of the water until she was sinking.

Gertrude Ederle might not have been the first woman to swim the English Channel if some of those who preceded her in the attempt had had her determination. It was neither superior training nor more physical endurance that gave the victory to the American girl. It was that unalterable resolution, "I'll swim it or sink."

It is that indefinable will to conquer that makes the immortals. It is that spirit that discovers poles, explores wildernesses, conquers plagues, finds radium, invents flying machines, isolates disease germs and moves mountains.

It is that spirit that carries messages to Garcia, captures Richmond, defends Verdun and dies undefeated at Thermopylae.

It is that spirit that produces an Olympian like Christopher Columbus, the intrepid sailor who, lashed to the pilot wheel of his tiny vessel with a mutinous crew locked below decks and the inexorable trade winds at his back, writes laconically in his journal each evening, "This day we sailed west."

It is that spirit that explains why obscure boys with no capital but their own bare hands, get educations, become corporation presidents, bankers, labor leaders, educators and industrial geniuses.

The reason so few men achieve greatness is because so few are willing to surrender everything for the sake of the main purpose. It is surprising how many minor things can be dispensed with before the great objective has to be surrendered.

ST. PAUL CHURCH PROGRAM FOR YEAR

W. H. Gemmell Speaks Oct. 24 on Recent Church Meeting at Sioux Falls

PARISH ANNIVERSARY SOON

Rev. Hans J. Wolner, Cloquet, to Speak at 55th Birthday of Local Church

A full and detailed program for the special services that are to be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Seventh and Juniper streets, is announced by the rector, Rev. Robert J. Long. The church is to be significantly honored in having a number of special and distinguished preachers visit Brainerd within the next few weeks as well as a number of special services with local speakers and programs.

On Sunday morning, October 24, W. H. Gemmell, president of the M. & L. will make an address at the regular 11 o'clock service reporting the recent meeting of the Province of the Northwest of the Protestant Episcopal church, which was held last week at Sioux Falls, S. D. Mr. Gemmell was a delegate from the Diocese of Duluth, and has been asked to report upon the Synod to the local parish.

On Sunday morning, October 31, the church will observe its fifty-fifth anniversary with a special anniversary service at 11 o'clock that morning and the preacher on that occasion will be Rev. Hans J. Wolner, at present, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Cloquet, and formerly rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Brainerd.

The special preacher at the regular 11 o'clock services, Sunday morning, November 14, will be Rev. Morris L. Eversz, pastor of the First Methodist church of Brainerd.

The local Episcopal church feels it is highly honored in having Rev. Eversz as a special preacher while the older boys conference of this district is meeting in the First Methodist church.

The fall pageant of the church school will be presented at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, November 21. More than 50 children of the parish will take part in this pageant.

Bishop Gaylor Granville Bennett of Duluth will visit St. Paul's Episcopal church, Sunday, November 28, and preach at the regular Sunday services that morning. As this is a special visit in as much as Bishop Bennett usually visits a parish but once a year, all the members will look forward with much pleasure to the special services.

In connection with the visits of the special preachers there will be a number of social events with the usual entertainments of the choir and church schools and the annual fall activities of the Women's organizations and Men's clubs.

HEDDA HOYT SAYS--

By HEDDA HOYT
ENTER THE BRIDGE PRIZE

New York, Oct. 16.—(UP)—With Summer departed and the Fall house-cleaning over, women have again resumed their rounds of bridge. There are many new gifts which are appropriate for bridge prizes this season not to mention the numerous articles which can be made by the woman who is handy at sewing.

One of the most acceptable gifts is the boudoir pillow and today I saw some of the loveliest little round and square shapes made entirely of colored marabou in such shades as orchid, rose, Nile green, white and pale pink. The backs of the pillows were made of matching silk since marabou trimmed one side only. Some of the round shapes looked exactly like huge down powder puffs.

The marabou is sewed closely together giving the effect of solid down. Marabou can be purchased by the yard.

Boudoir lights made of colored sea-shells shaped like flowers are nice gifts to give intimate friends. Usually the flower portion is a huge rose, lily or orchid which stands on a weighted stem. A tiny electric-light globe is fitted in the center of the flower. Some of these are marked as low as $1.50.

Among the novelties are little celluloid hair brushes about five inches long made in the shapes of initials. These come in the various celluloid colors which are used for dresser sets. The brush is shaped exactly like an initial and the bristles are sufficiently firm to make the brush adequate for bobbed hair.

An inexpensive gift which is easily made is the little comb holder made of fancy ribbon. A small vanity comb encased in one of these holders makes a pretty accessory for the pocketbook. A strip of inch-wide gold ribbon printed in colored flowers is doubled and sewed together to form the case, leaving a portion of single ribbon at one end to be finished with a tiny gold tassel which folds back over the case in envelop fashion.

The refillable powder puff is another inexpensive gift. Some of these are made of camel's hair and fitted with flat silver screw-on lids which can be monogrammed. The powder is placed inside the puff.

An inexpensive table gift for a luncheon is the squat little glass bottle filled with dried lavender. These little inch-high bottles are shaped like tiny rose jars and their lids are tied on with baby ribbon.

They cost but 25 cents but are extremely attractive. One can place them in the dresser drawer leaving the lid slightly unscrewed.

Handkerchief cases of Italian leather in envelope shapes stamped in gold and adorned with center medallions of needle point are useful gifts for the traveler. Decks of cards in Italian leather are appropriate card prizes.

FREDERICK J. HALL DIES AT TARRYTOWN

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Frederick J. Hall, who probably knew more than any other man of the intimate workings of the minds of such men as John D. Rockefeller, the late Mark Twain and General U. S. Grant, is dead.

He died at his home here yesterday, aged 67.

For the last 25 years hall three times a week had gone over to the Rockefeller home at Pocantico Hills whenever Rockefeller was there, and often to the Lakewood home of the aged oil magnate, and there had been Rockefeller's opponent on the golf links.

Hall's life had been devoted largely to association with famous men.

While still a young man, he was the personal stenographer to whom General Grant dictated the notes from which he wrote his memoirs. Later he was secretary to the late Samuel Clemens, (Mark Twain.)

Despite his close association with these men Hall talked but little of them.

Their confidences with him were safe.

Giant Crystals in South Dakota Mine

Crystals forty feet long, three to six feet in diameter and weighing thirty-seven tons have been found in the Eita spodumene mine near Pennington, Keystone county, S. D., according to Prof. G. M. Schwartz of the University of Minnesota, who describes them in Economic Geology.

Spodumene is a mineral valuable to chemical plants as a source of lithium, for which the Eita mine is worked. The spodumene crystals of this Black Hills deposit are among the most remarkable in the world, Professor Schwartz believes.

"Huge crystals resembling logs lie about in every direction," he writes. "These vary in size from a foot or two in length to thirty and even forty feet. The largest recorded was forty-two feet long. At places now well exposed on the south wall of the pit there are star-like aggregates radiating from a center. The crystals often cross, and one is cut and somewhat altered, indicating that a later crystal had grown through an earlier one."

Gemmell, president of the M. & L. will make an address at the regular 11 o'clock service reporting the recent meeting of the Province of the Northwest of the Protestant Episcopal church, which was held last week at Sioux Falls, S. D. Mr. Gemmell was a delegate from the Diocese of Duluth, and has been asked to report upon the Synod to the local parish.

On Sunday morning, October 31, the church will observe its fifty-fifth anniversary with a special anniversary service at 11 o'clock that morning and the preacher on that occasion will be Rev. Hans J. Wolner, at present, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Cloquet, and formerly rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Brainerd. The special preacher at the regular 11 o'clock services, Sunday morning, November 14, will be Rev. Morris L. Evers, pastor of the First Methodist church of Brainerd. The local Episcopal church feels it is highly honored in having Rev. Evers as a special preacher while the older boys conference of this district is meeting in the First Methodist church.

The fall pageant of the church school will be presented at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, November 21. More than 50 children of the parish will take part in this pageant.

Bishop Gaylor Granville Bennett of Duluth will visit St. Paul's Episcopal church, Sunday, November 28, and preach at the regular Sunday services that morning. As this is a special visit in as much as Bishop Bennett usually visits a parish but once a year, all the members will look forward with much pleasure to the special services.

In connection with the visits of the special preachers there will be a number of social events with the usual entertainments of the choir and church schools and the annual fall activities of the Women's organizations and Men's clubs.

HEDDA HOYT SAYS--

ENTER THE BRIDGE PRIZE

New York, Oct. 16.—(UP)—With Summer departed and the Fall house-cleaning over, women have again resumed their rounds of bridge. There are many new gifts which are appropriate for bridge prizes this season not to mention the numerous articles which can be made by the woman who is handy at sewing.

One of the most acceptable gifts is the boudoir pillow and today I saw some of the loveliest little round and square shapes made entirely of colored marabou in such shades as orchid, rose, nile green, white and pale pink. The backs of the pillows were made of matching silk since marabou trimmed one side only. Some of the round shapes looked exactly like huge down powder puffs.

The marabou is sewed closely together giving the effect of solid down. Marabou can be purchased by the yard.

Boudoir lights made of colored sea-shells shaped like flowers are nice gifts to give intimate friends. Usually the flower portion is a huge rose, lily or orchid which stands on a weighted stem. A tiny electric-light globe is fitted in the center of the flower. Some of these are marked as low as $1.50.

Among the novelties are little celluloid hair brushes about five inches long made in the shapes of initials. These come in the various celluloid colors which are used for dresser sets. The brush is shaped exactly like an initial and the bristles are sufficiently firm to make the brush adequate for bobbed hair.

An inexpensive gift which is easily made is the little comb holder made of fancy ribbon. A small vanity comb encased in one of these holders makes a pretty accessory for the pocketbook. A strip of inch-wide gold ribbon printed in colored flowers is doubled and sewed together to form the case, leaving a portion of single ribbon at one end to be finished with a tiny gold tassel which folds back over the case in envelop-fashion.

The refillable powder puff is another inexpensive gift. Some of these are made of camel's hair and fitted with flat silver screw-on lids which can be monogrammed. The powder is placed inside the puff.

An inexpensive table gift for a luncheon is the squat little glass bottle filled with dried lavender. These little inch-high bottles are shaped like tiny rose jars and their lids are tied on with baby ribbon.

They cost but 25 cents but are extremely attractive. One can place them in the dresser drawer leaving the lid slightly unscrewed.

Handkerchief cases of Italian leather in envelope shapes stamped in gold and adorned with center medallions of needle point are useful gifts for the traveler. Decks of cards in Italian leather are appropriate card prizes.

FREDERICK J. HALL DIES AT TARRYTOWN

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Frederick J. Hall, who probably knew more than any other man of the intimate workings of the minds of such men as John D. Rockefeller, the late Mark Twain and General U. S. Grant, is dead.

He died at his home here yesterday, aged 67.

For the last 25 years hall three times a week had gone over to the Rockefeller home at Pocantico Hills whenever Rockefeller was there, and often to the Lakewood home of the aged oil magnate, and there had been Rockefeller's opponent on the golf links.

Hall's life had been devoted largely to association with famous men.

While still a young man, he was the personal stenographer to whom General Grant dictated the notes from which he wrote his memoirs.

Later he was secretary to the late Samuel Clemens. (Mark Twain.)

Despite his close association with these men Hall talked but little of them.

Their confidences with him were safe.

Ferry Field, Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Minnesota met Michigan on a slow, wet field here today in the feature game of the opening of the Western Conference season.

Heavy showers which fell during the night and dampened the gridiron were encouraging to the Gophers whose line plunging attack would be at its best under such conditions and threatened to curtail the aerial attack of the Yostmen as it did against Northwestern in the memorable tilt of 1925.

With every ticket sold out days ago, indications were that a crowd of between 45,000 and 47,000 would witness the game.

WEST VIRGINIA AND GEORGETOWN

Washington, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Meeting for the first time since 1902, when Georgetown won 5 to 0, West Virginia, the famous mountaineers, and Georgetown university will clash here today.

The mountaineers are regarded one of the best eleven in the country this year, and are 7 to 5 favorites to beat the blue and gray. Georgetown will deduct $1,500 from the gate receipts to contribute to the building of a memorial in honor of Walter Camp.

IOWANS INVADE ILLINOIS TODAY

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Ingwersen's impressive Iowans invaded Illinois today to test their strength against Zuppke's fighting Illini, in the annual homecoming game. Today's contest is the yearly battle between Pupli, Ingwersen, and Teacher, Zuppke. The Iowa coach got all of his training under the Illinois leader.

Today's game also promises to be a battle for the limelight between "Nick" Kutsch, the rough riding Iowa junior, and "Frosty" Peters, the cool headed sophomore, who has borne the brunt of the ball carrying for the Illini this fall.

PURDUE AND WISCONSIN CLASH

La Fayette, Ind., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Solution of two conference teams' chances for the Big Ten title will follow today's game here between Purdue and Wisconsin. Both teams are rated as unknown quantities on their pre conference season showing. With the Badger ace, Captain Doyle Harmon, unable to show his nastiest, due to an injury, Kreuz, Rose and Shaw are apt to get a chance to show their mettle against the boilermaker team.

"Cotton" Wilcox is expected to carry the burden of the offensive play for Purdue.

Putz made the first touch down for the locals and Fitzharris kicked goal. Lowe made the second touch down but failed to make the place kick.

The feature of the game was the brilliant field sprinting of Captain Putz who carried the pigskin down the field 60 yards on a solo rush, being tackled on Crosby's five yard line.

SIXTH STREET PLAYGROUNDS
SCENE OF TIGHT FOOT-BALL GAME

The South Side football team defeated the Sixth Street team this morning in a tight battle at the Sixth street playgrounds, by a 12 to 6 score. The game was the first of the year for either team, and some good work was displayed by several of the players.

Russell Noakes and Lowe White starred for the South Side, each scoring a touchdown. Graff, at quarter, did some fine playing, and Gablou, Graff and Lee were strong on defense. For the losers, Halvorson and Coyne played well on offense, while Wise, with Halvorson, did most of the defensive work. A pass by Halvorson to Patterson resulted in their single touchdown. Swanson and Gablou were the officials.

NORTHWESTERN VS. INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Northwestern university's football team was to play its first conference game in the new stadium today against Indiana. Coach Pat Page of the hoosiers made his bow as a Big Ten mentor.

Captain Ralph "Moon" Baker and Leland "Tiny" Lewis were regarded as the purple's aces before the game started, while Captain Frank Sibley at end and Herman Byers, fleet full back carried the bulk of Page's hopes.

PRINCETON AND NAVY CRIPPLED

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—(UP)—With injuries crippling both teams Princeton and the Navy will line up at the Palmer stadium this afternoon for their 18th football battle. Jake Slagle of Princeton and Alan Shapley of Annapolis, star backs, will be out of the game. The outcome of the game is expected to depend upon the secondary strength of the elevens.

HARVARD MEETS WILLIAM AND MARY

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Defeated in both previous games this season Harvard will try to recoup at the expense of William and Mary in its third gridiron test here this afternoon.

Despite its black record and the fact that a makeshift lineup will face the visitors, Harvard is an overwhelming favorite.

NOTRE DAME FACES PENN STATE ELEVEN

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
South Bend, Ind., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Notre Dame's stalwart team was to face Penn State's powerful eleven today in an effort to clear away the nothing-nothing tie which was the result of last year's game in the east.

Both teams are strong, play the same style of football and can mix plays through and around the line with an aerial attack.

Notre Dame lost two men in the game with Minnesota last Saturday but with the string of players that swarmed over Cartier field last night an injured player more or less is the least of Rockne's worries.

HOW HE FELT

Campaign parades are the order of the day, and although many have been held, woman condescending to take to the asphalt has still an irresistible attraction for man. Recently a New York policeman made a new comment:

"Say, I'm for 'em. I seen 'em the other night in a parade walkin' fur hours carrying them heavy banners and things and smilin'. And say, if they want the vote as much as all that, to be achin' in every bone fur hours fur it, I'm goin' to help 'em to get it."

Vocal Demonstration

"I suppose you will make a thorough study of the subject on which you are to engage in debate?"

"I haven't decided," answered Senator Sorghum. "What I principally need is self-confidence and an unqualified opinion. If I get to studying too far, I may get to debating in my own mind instead of with my voice."

Modern Methods

"Crimson Guich used to be the toughest town on the map."

"It is yet," answered Cactus Joe.

"But it seems quiet and prosperous."

"It's all o' them. The difference is that when we hold up an innocent stranger we employ a realtor instead of a road agent."—Washington Star.

Limited to Art and Science

"Were matters of politics discussed on the occasion of your visits to that eminent official?"

"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "It makes life kind o' dull. When men who know all about politics meet that's the one subject they're not supposed to talk about."—Washington Star.

NONE NEW TO HIM

"You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

"No, you can't find a trick that's new to him, I suppose."

A Mouthful

You've heard this tale before;
But have you heard she passed her plate
And had a little more?

Foresight

"So Blanche is going to marry the young man who saved her from drowning."

"So I understand."

"But is she sure he is able to support her in good style?"

"Oh, yes. She looked him up in Bradstreet before she fell in."

Woman Swims from Albany to New York

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Mrs. Charlotte Moore Schoemmel, swimming from Albany to New York, thus far has traversed 74 miles in swimming time of 32 hours 20 minutes. The New York woman entered the water at Milton shortly after 8 a. m. today, and was to stop overnight at Newburgh.

Bride Will Remember

That Night on Porch

The Woman needed cheering up, so she decided to call on a recent bride, feeling sure that the young wife's exuberant spirits would lift her own.

But to her amazement the door was opened by a weary, heavy-eyed apparition bearing but slight resemblance to the radiant creature she had seen just a few weeks before at the altar.

"Why, my dear," the Woman stammered, throwing tact to the four winds in her desire to be sympathetic. "Oh, do come in," urged the bride, pushing the Woman into a cretonne-covered chair and taking a seat close beside her. "Nothing is the matter—now." The last word was added after a definite pause. "But you should have seen me early this morning, about 4 a. m. to be exact."

"Four a. m.," murmured the Woman, with an incredulous stare.

"Yes; I spent the night on the porch, waiting for my husband. You know he is most punctilious about keeping me informed of his goings and comings, so when he wired he would be home late I sent the maid off and made myself comfortable on the porch."

"Hour after hour passed and no Carl. Suddenly I began to worry. I felt that something dreadful had happened to him. After that idea got firmly fixed in my mind I watched each car that passed with apprehension, expecting that each one would stop and tell me that my husband was lying dead somewhere on the road. I worked myself up until I was a nervous wreck. Suddenly through the faint dawn I spied a huge white car. I knew at once it was an ambulance. I sat with every sense alert praying that it would not stop, but as it came to our driveway it slowed down and stopped. A man got out and I flew to the side door, trying to hold myself together to hear the dreadful news.

"As I slowly opened the door I instinctively put out my hand. Something cold was placed in it and a cheery voice greeted me 'Good morning, lady. I don't often see you when I leave the milk.'

"Of course, Carl came finally. He had a puncture and had been delayed. But the milk bottle brought me to my senses. Still, I guess it didn't help my complexion any. The next time I will think of that and perhaps I'll be more sensible."—New York Sun.

Potato Has Vitamine B

The lowly potato is an important source of vitamine B—the anti-neuritic vitamine, whose lack causes the disease known as beri-beri. According to F. J. Lyman and Inez Blystone of the laboratory of applied chemistry at Ohio university this essential element is distributed about uniformly throughout the potato and is stable both during cooking and storage. Measured in calories, the white potato furnishes about 12 per cent of the American dietary. Mr. Lyman and Miss Blystone have conducted a series of experiments in which they have found that rats thrive and grew at a normal rate on a diet containing as much as 80 per cent potatoes. When put on a diet of only 40 per cent potatoes from which other foods containing vitamine B were excluded the rats showed a rapid decline in condition, which disappeared as soon as a sufficient quantity of vitamine B was again supplied.

Georgetown will deduct $1,500 from the gate receipts to contribute to the building of a memorial in honor of Walter Camp.

IOWANS INVADE ILLINOIS TODAY

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Ingwersen's impressive Iowans invaded Illinois today to test their strength against Zuppke's fighting Illini, in the annual homecoming game. Today's contest is the yearly battle between Pupil, Ingwersen, and Teacher, Zuppke. The Iowa coach got all of his training under the Illinois leader. Today's game also promises to be a battle for the limelight between "Nick" Kutsch, the rough riding Iowa junior, and "Frosty" Peters, the cool headed sophomore, who has borne the brunt of the ball carrying for the Illini this fall.

PURDUE AND WISCONSIN CLASH

La Fayette, Ind., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Solution of two conference teams' chances for the Big Ten title will follow today's game here between Purdue and Wisconsin. Both teams are rated as unknown quantities on their pre conference season showing. With the Badger ace, Captain Doyle Harmon, unable to show his fastest, due to an injury, Kreuz, Rose and Shaw are apt to get a chance to show their mettle against the boiler-maker team.

"Cotton" Wilcox is expected to carry the burden of the offensive play for Purdue.

The score at the end of the first half of the Brainerd-Crosby Ironton high school gridiron battle at the Municipal ball grounds this afternoon was 13 to 0 in favor of Brainerd. Putz made the first touch down for the locals and Fitzharris kicked goal. Lowe made the second touch down but failed to make the place kick. The feature of the game was the brilliant field sprinting of Captain Putz who carried the pigskin down the field 60 yards on a solo rush, being tackled on Crosby's five yard line.

SOUTH SIDES 12 SIXTH STREET 6

SIXTH STREET PLAYGROUNDS SCENE OF TIGHT FOOT-BALL GAME

The South Side football team defeated the Sixth Street team this morning in a tight battle at the Sixth street playgrounds, by a 12 to 6 score. The game was the first of the year for either team, and some good work was displayed by several of the players.

Russell Noakes and Lowe White starred for the South Side, each scoring a touchdown. Graff, at quarter, did some fine playing, and Gabiou, Graff and Lee were strong on defense. For the losers, Halvorson and Coyne played well on offense, while Wise, with Halvorson, did most of the defensive work. A pass by Halvorson to Patterson resulted in their single touchdown. Swanson and Gabiou were the officials.

NORTHWESTERN VS. INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Northwestern university's football team was to play its first conference game in the new stadium today against Indiana. Coach Pat Page of the hoosiers made his bow as a Big Ten mentor.

Captain Ralph "Moon" Baker and Leland "Tiny" Lewis were regarded as the purple's aces before the game started, while Captain Frank Sibley at end and Herman Byers, fleet full back carried the bulk of Page's hopes.

PRINCETON AND NAVY CRIPPLED

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—(UP)—With injuries crippling both teams Princeton and the Navy will line up at the Palmer stadium this afternoon for their 18th football battle. Jake Slagle of Princeton and Alan Shapley of Annapolis, star backs, will be out of the game. The outcome of the game is expected to depend upon the secondary strength of the elevens.

HARVARD MEETS WILLIAM AND MARY

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Defeated in both previous games this season Harvard will try to recoup at the expense of William and Mary in its third gridiron test here this afternoon. Despite its black record and the fact that a makeshift lineup will face the visitors, Harvard is an overwhelming favorite.

NOTRE DAME FACES PENN STATE ELEVEN

By CLARK B. KELSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) South Bend, Ind., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Notre Dame's stalwart team was to face Penn State's powerful eleven today in an effort to clear away the nothing-nothing tie which was the result of last year's game in the east. Both teams are strong, play the same style of football and can mix plays through and around the line with an aerial attack.

Notre Dame lost two men in the game with Minnesota last Saturday but with the string of players that swarmed over Cartier field last night an injured player more or less is the least of Rockne's worries.

Campaign parades are the order of the day, and although many have been held, woman condescending to take to the asphalt has still an irresistible attraction for man. Recently a New York policeman made a new comment: "Say, I'm for 'em. I seen 'em the other night in a parade walkin' fur hours carrying them heavy banners and things and smilin'. And say, if they want the vote as much as all that, to be achin' in every bone fur hours fur it, I'm goin' to help 'em to get it."

Vocal Demonstration "I suppose you will make a thorough study of the subject on which you are to engage in debate?" "I haven't decided," answered Senator Sorghum. "What I principally need is self-confidence and an unqualified opinion. If I get to studying too far, I may get to debating in my own mind instead of with my voice."

Modern Methods "Crimson Gulch used to be the toughest town on the map." "It is yet," answered Cactus Joe. "But it seems quiet and prosperous." "It's all o' them. The difference is that when we hold up an innocent stranger we employ a realtor instead of a road agent."—Washington Star.

Limited to Art and Science "Were matters of politics discussed on the occasion of your visits to that eminent official?" "No," answered Senator Sorghum. "It makes life kind o' dull. When men who know all about politics meet that's the one subject they're not supposed to talk about."—Washington Star.

Woman Swims from Albany to New York

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Mrs. Charlotte Moore Schoemmel, swimming from Albany to New York, thus far has traversed 74 miles in swimming time of 32 hours 20 minutes. The New York woman entered the water at Milton shortly after 8 a. m. today and was to stop overnight at Newburgh.

Bride Will Remember That Night on Porch

The Woman needed cheering up, so she decided to call on a recent bride, feeling sure that the young wife's exuberant spirits would lift her own. But to her amazement the door was opened by a weary, heavy-eyed apparition bearing but slight resemblance to the radiant creature she had seen just a few weeks before at the altar. "Why, my dear," the Woman stammered, throwing tact to the four winds in her desire to be sympathetic. "Oh, do come in," urged the bride, pushing the Woman into a cretonne-covered chair and taking a seat close beside her. "Nothing is the matter—now." The last word was added after a definite pause. "But you should have seen me early this morning, about 4 a. m. to be exact." "Four a. m.," murmured the Woman, with an incredulous stare. "Yes; I spent the night on the porch, waiting for my husband. You know he is most punctilious about keeping me informed of his goings and comings, so when he wired he would be home late I sent the maid off and made myself comfortable on the porch." "Hour after hour passed and no Carl. Suddenly I began to worry. I felt that something dreadful had happened to him. After that idea got firmly fixed in my mind I watched each car that passed with apprehension, expecting that each one would stop and tell me that my husband was lying dead somewhere on the road. I worked myself up until I was a nervous wreck. Suddenly through the faint dawn I spied a huge white car. I knew at once it was an ambulance. I sat with every sense alert praying that it would not stop, but as it came to our driveway it slowed down and stopped. A man got out and I flew to the side door, trying to hold myself together to hear the dreadful news. "As I slowly opened the door I instinctively put out my hand. Something cold was placed in it and a cheery voice greeted me 'Good morning, lady. I don't often see you when I leave the milk.' "Of course, Carl came finally. He had a puncture and had been delayed. But the milk bottle brought me to my senses. Still, I guess it didn't help my complexion any. The next time I will think of that and perhaps I'll be more sensible."—New York Sun.

Potato Has Vitamin B

The lowly potato is an important source of vitamin B—the anti-neuritic vitamin, whose lack causes the disease known as beri-beri. According to F. J. Lyman and Inez Blystone of the laboratory of applied chemistry at Ohio university this essential element is distributed about uniformly throughout the potato and is stable both during cooking and storage. Measured in calories, the white potato furnishes about 12 per cent of the American dietary. Mr. Lyman and Miss Blystone have conducted a series of experiments in which they have found that rats thrive and grew at a normal rate on a diet containing as much as 80 per cent potatoes. When put on a diet of only 40 per cent potatoes from which other foods containing vitamin B were excluded the rats showed a rapid decline in condition, which disappeared as soon as a sufficient quantity of vitamin B was again supplied.

THREE ATTEMPTED HOLDUPS ON ROAD

2 Bandits Reported Operating Without Success at Gull River Bridge

CARS RUN THE GAUNTLET

Cars Attacked Belonged to John F. Hurley, D. D. Schrader and Henry Roberts

Three attempted holdups of cars were made last night by two bandits on the east end of the Gull River bridge but without success as the drivers of the cars "ran the gauntlet" successfully.

John F. Hurley, a salesman for the Sherlund garage, one of the car drivers who were held up was fired at by one of the bandits, one bullet crashing the glass of the door beside him and missing him by inches.

The other two cars were driven by D. D. Schrader, 510 4th street north and Henry Roberts, electrician. The bandits attempted to hold up Mr. Schrader first and following the attempted holdup on Jack Hurley they attempted to hold up Mr. Roberts.

Jack Hurley stated that he was returning to Brainerd from New York Mills about 7:15 o'clock last evening when at the Gull River bridge he was swung down by two men on the road. He stated that he kept on going and that as he went past he heard a shot and the glass in the door of the car near him was shattered. He stopped his car and returned to find out what the men wanted but when he came close the bandits ran into the woods.

D. D. Schrader was returning from Motley. Prior to that time he had met with an accident on a side road, in attempting to prevent colliding with another car he had struck the stump of a tree, injuring his chest. When the two men attempted to stop him he continued going, anxious to get to Brainerd to tend to his injuries.

WHITTIER P. T. A. OPENS SEASON

Mrs. Folsom, New President, Presided at Gathering of Teachers and Parents

MRS. W. W. BANE SECY PRO TEM
Following the Business Session, a Very Enjoyable Program Was Given

The Whittier Parent Teacher's association held its first meeting of the year, last Tuesday evening with Mrs. Walter Folsom, the new president in the chair. In the absence of Mrs. Geist, the secretary, Mrs. W. W. Bane served in her place.

Minutes of the last two meetings were read, bills allowed, reports from committees received, new committees for the year named and other items of business carried out.

Following the business session a very enjoyable program was given, a piano solo by Mrs. Noella Dulcis Hall and vocal selections by Dr. A. K. Cohen with Mrs. Louis Knudsen as accompanist. Miss Eula Michael gave a very comprehensive report on the child welfare convention which she attended, recently, in St. Paul. This report made all feel that it is well worth while to send delegates to our state meetings, so by unanimous vote, Mrs. Folsom, was elected delegate to the state association of Parent Teacher Associations to be held in St. Paul, November 1, 2 and 3, with Mrs. W. W. Bane as alternate.

Following the regular session, refreshments were served by the committee in charge, consisting of Mrs. J. C. Clausen, Mrs. Edw. Anderson, Mrs. C. B. Peterson. It was voted to make the refreshments feature a permanent one, since only uncivilized men can live without cooks.

It is hoped that the attendance may be greater on the part of parents whose children are in the Whittier school. To have a 100 percent of teachers present and only 10 percent of parents is not an evidence of deep interest in a child's welfare on the part of the parents, said one of the teachers.

Local Delegation Headed by Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Damon

Brainerd was selected as the 1927 convention city for First Baptist churches throughout the state, at the Baptist state convention held Oct. 11, 12, and 13 at Rochester which was attended by the following local delegates: Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Damon, Mrs. A. Angel, Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis and Mrs. George Tracy.

Although definite date for next year's convention was not set, it is indicated that the convention will be held for three days the second week in October. From 300 to 350 delegates attended the convention this year and an equal number is expected at the Brainerd convention next year. Duluth put in a bid for the convention but was unsuccessful.

A number of nationally known speakers will be in attendance at the convention and plans are already being made for next year's convention.

WHITTIER P. T. A. OPENS SEASON

Mrs. Folsom, New President, Presided at Gathering of Teachers and Parents

MRS. W. W. BANE SECY PRO TEM
Following the Business Session, a Very Enjoyable Program Was Given

The Whittier Parent Teacher's association held its first meeting of the year, last Tuesday evening with Mrs. Walter Folsom, the new president in the chair. In the absence of Mrs. Geist, the secretary, Mrs. W. W. Bane served in her place.

Minutes of the last two meetings were read, bills allowed, reports from committees received, new committees for the year named and other items of business carried out.

Following the business session a very enjoyable program was given, a piano solo by Mrs. Noella Duglos Hall and vocal selections by Dr. A. K. Cohen with Mrs. Louis Knudsen as accompanist. Miss Eula Michael gave a very comprehensive report on the child welfare convention which she attended, recently, in St. Paul. This report made all feel that it is well worth while to send delegates to our state meetings, so by unanimous vote, Mrs. Folsom, was elected delegate to the state association of Parent Teacher Associations to be held in St. Paul, November 1, 2 and 3, with Mrs. W. W. Bane as alternate.

Following the regular session, refreshments were served by the committee in charge, consisting of Mrs. J. C. Clausen, Mrs. Edw. Anderson, Mrs. C. B. Peterson. It was voted to make the refreshments feature a permanent one, since only uncivilized men can live without cooks.

It is hoped that the attendance may be greater on the part of parents whose children are in the Whittier school. To have a 100 percent of teachers present and only 10 percent of parents is not an evidence of deep interest in a child's welfare on the part of the parents, said one of the teachers.

Noted Violinist Will Open Brainerd Musical Club Season

AT PARK THEATRE

Miss Margaret Engler, Pianist of Note, to be His Accompanist

Harry Farbman, violinist, will open the Brainerd Musical club's concert season, tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock, at the New Park theatre. Mr. Farbman was the opening artist of last year's program and so pleased his audience that he was recalled for another performance.

He is at present under the national concert direction of Harry and Arthur Culbertson, prominent in musical concert circles and will be accompanied by Miss Margaret Engler, a pianist of note.

The program which follows contains several great favorites including "Air on the G string," by Bach and "Ave Maria," arranged by Schubert-Wilhelm.

Buckles and Buttons That Adorn

There are so many places on one's gown that one might be making up new or working over that a smart attractive buckle would add just the right touch. There are many bright ones of Rhinestones, skillfully made into pretty shapes, perhaps square, or round, or oblong, others with laquer work on dark background. Some of these are in one piece, others separable so as to be clasped together.

Then there are buttons, bright if you want them so, or plain ones in various sizes for the tailored frock of wool.

Fur Trimmings

A touch of fur adds much to the finish of many a style of a little dress, at the bottom, on the sleeves, on a cape back, or on the collar.

This may be either in a contrasting shade or a shade to match. Grey, beige, black, brown in widths from one inch to five inches.

SYNOPSIS
In France Jimmy Ford adopts a police puppy, names it Rin-Tin-Tin and smuggles it home. Murtagh, a crooked politician, covets Jimmy's sweetheart, Ruth Allen. Jimmy's father, a New York police lieutenant, is mysteriously murdered. Jimmy joins the Force to avenge him. Jimmy has an able ally in Rinty, now full-grown. Murtagh, fearing Jimmy, has him assigned to the dead-end neighborhood of the Hudson Busters, a gang he secretly leads. After a heroic fight with the gang Jimmy is made a sergeant. The gang take an oath to get even with Jimmy and Rinty. Murtagh has a joy plan—

CHAPTER IX
Not without reason was the girl who lived alone and luxuriously in a suite in the best hotel that Chelsea could boast, known as "New York Nell." She was as typical of New York as the Battery; as little old New "Yorker" as the east side and west side pavements that had become sentimentally and songfully associated with the name of Governor Al; she was as Gotham as Times Square and as Manhattanish as the gas tanks of Avenue A—and equally at home in either neighborhood.

The Chelsea waterfront underworld knew full well it was Dan the Dude's money that maintained her in such high living style, especially in these days when her nimble fingers, sharpened to sensitiveness by the emory paper of early poverty, were not extracting their usual toll of well filled New York wallets. But Nell, despite her rise in the underworld, to where she had become the recognized "lady friend," or "trail," of Dan Murtagh, insisted upon living an active share in the gang's operations. That was due to her sheer gamins' love of excitement, of thrills. "Nell's the greatest female pickpocket since the days of 'Frisco Fanny!'" the Central office men were apt to say.

"Is it brains, Dan, or brass that you mean?"

Be that as it may, she was not at all devoid of the usual feminine attributes of vanity, of desire for male attention, of need for affection. Nell loved Dan Murtagh, nor was her power to love anywise below the similar power of her less sinful sisters. Love is neither governed nor gangled by vocation, other things being equal. Whether or not Dan Murtagh loved Nell was something that none of the Busters had ever been able to find out, though they took it for granted. He maintained her in affluence, and that in the underworld is the usually accepted evidence of true love! Furthermore, in the underworld love is taken as a very serious matter. A great deal more so than in higher stratas of society. No gunman will cut in on another gangster's "trail," and while they will boast of their killings and their stick-ups and their night club conquests, and while they will without compunction squeal on a pal to save their own precious hides, they will not gossip about that pal's love affair.

Thus Murtagh's affair with Nell never came to be general public knowledge in Chelsea; never came, in fact, to the attention of the police, so unimportant did the underworld stool pigeons and sources of information consider such a thing as a love affair, and so marvelously well did Dan cover any signs that might direct the lay attention toward his association with Nell. Indeed, even his political cronies and colleagues never suspected that Dan Murtagh was anything but a respectable bachelor, who maybe had an infrequent night out with a show girl or a model, but for the rest was one of the pillars of Father Clancy's church, where his name was always at the top of the coal and the monthly and Easter collection lists. Oh, but if the good Father had only known what

GEM CALLED ENEMY OF GRIEF AND WOE

Sardonyx Also Associated With Religion.

The sardonyx, the natal stone for August, is the gem of self-control. It is symbolic of matrimonial bliss, and according to ancient belief, girls born in August will never marry if they fail to wear this stone. The sardonyx is under the heavenly Leo of the Zodiac, the sign of sensation and feeling, and to it is attributed the power of banishing grief and woe. As late as the Middle Ages sardonyx was used as a remedy for scrofula and other skin diseases, and even today it is employed in Persia as a cure for epilepsy.

This stone was first made fashionable in Rome by Scipio Africanus, the elder, two centuries before Christ, who, it is said, believed in its spiritual virtue. Throughout its history sardonyx has been associated with religion, for it was one of the stones in the breastplate of the ancient Hebrews and is mentioned in Revelations as forming a part of the foundation of the holy city. The ancient Egyptians carved from this stone the sacred scarab, which was a sign of their religion, much in the same way as the cross is the symbol of Christianity.

Sardonyx is a variety of chalcedonic quartz composed of different colored layers. In its commonest form it exhibits sard, reddish brown in color, alternating with white chalcedony, the latter formerly called onyx. This stone, however, not infrequently displays as many as four or five colors, and by artificial processes lasting and pleasing color effects may be had in the various shades of yellow, red, brown and orange. This artistic display of colors makes it highly desirable for cameo manufacture, since the different layers are utilized appropriately in the finished engraving. Many of the famous cameos of history are cut from this stone. In olden times the requirements for a high-grade sardonyx cameo was a black base for humility, a white zone for virtue and a layer of red or brown for fearlessness, but many of the latter cameos cut in this stone display as many as five differently colored zones. The largest known sardonyx cameo, a five-layer stone, 12 by 16 inches, was formerly in the possession of Cardinal Ceregna, but is now in the Vatican at Rome. The famous Sainte Chapelle, 11 by 13 inches, the second largest sardonyx cameo, was also a five-layer stone. This cameo, now in the Bibliotheque Nationale at Paris, was long thought to typify the triumph of Joseph in Egypt and was regarded as a sacred relic.

Perhaps the most famous stone cameo in history was a sardonyx upon which Queen Elizabeth's portrait was cut. According to tradition, this cameo was set in the famous ring which she gave the earl of Essex as a pledge of her friendship. When sentenced to death, Essex sent this ring to his cousin, Lady Scroop, to deliver to Elizabeth. By mistake the messenger gave the ring to Lady Scroop's sister, Countess Nottingham, an enemy of the earl; thevengeful countess did not deliver the talismanic ring and in consequence the fated earl was executed. The Countess Nottingham confessed this act of vengeance to Elizabeth when the countess was on her deathbed, which, according to the chroniclers of Elizabeth's life history, so infuriated the queen that she shook the dying noblewoman, saying, "God may forgive you, but I cannot."

Old Sol Has Fever
According to Martin Gil, Argentine meteorologist, the sun is now suffering from an attack of eruptive fevers which has disturbed the electromagnetic of our planet and has been the cause of the heat waves, floods, earthquakes and other extreme conditions experienced in the northern hemisphere. "The sun," says the scientist, "is always feverish, but it is now in the throes of a very severe attack. The sun spots show us that a most titanic solar agitation is taking place." Calculations show us that such agitations in the sun occur in cycles of about 350 years. The Argentine authority thinks the present one will continue until 1928—Pathfinder Magazine.

Too Risky
While Grant and Leota Whytock were in France with Rex Ingram, they naturally made a number of friends, many of whom took great pride in their family histories. One family in particular had an album of which it was very proud and when the opportunity presented itself, nothing would do but that Grant and Leota must see the pictures.
"And this one," said the hostess, after an interval, "was killed in a feud."
"How distressing," exclaimed Leota, "I always feel nervous myself, when I ride in one of those cheap cars—Los Angeles Times.

Bright Spot in Sky
The sun-dog is a bright spot about 40 to 45 diameters of the sun distant, and the same elevation as the sun above the horizon. The origin of the term "sun-dog" is not known.

STOCKS IN DRASTIC DECLINE
New York, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Stocks experienced the most drastic decline since the break of last March today in the two hours trading. Many traders who had become alarmed over the extent of the downward movement made haste to throw overboard their long holdings while others who were unable to put up additional margins had their accounts liquidated by the firms carrying them.
In addition cotton was under pressure again and descriptions of trade conditions by the weekly mercantile reviews were tinged by the greatest pessimism they have experienced in more than a year. As a result selling of stocks was pushed with great urgency and the principal speculative issues suffered further sharp breaks.
General Motors, Steel, Allied Chemical and other leaders of the summer rise broke to new lows on the reaction and quick drops took place in various industrial specialties. Rails were also held at the close.
The market closed higher.

MISCELLANEOUS

Motors Stand High Heat
Small motors on such devices as electric fans can heat up to high temperatures in service without damage. It is estimated that a temperature running up to 125 degrees Fahrenheit is not destructive. The appearance of smoke from the motor case or the detection of the odor of burning insulation are the only indications of grief in the motor, and these seldom occur.
Wholly American
The production of maple sugar and maple syrup is purely an American industry, Canada being the only country other than the United States where they are made.

World's Meat Consumption
According to an English journal, Americans are the greatest meat eaters of the world with an average per capita consumption of 175 pounds a year. The largest part of this meat is beef, although the English, known as beef eaters, average only 110 pounds of meat. The French eat only half as much as the English, and the consumption is still less in Germany, Austria and Italy.

Has Several Broods
There is no native bird which attempts to equal the mourning dove in domestic accomplishments, says the Nature Magazine. Its breeding season extends from early May until late September, and, if fate is lenient with the frail establishment of the bird, three or four broods may be raised to maturity with scarcely a pause between each family.

Indians' Odd Immunity
The American Indian is naturally immune to scarlet fever, believes Dr. N. P. Sherwood, of the University of Kansas, who has made an extensive study of the disease among Indians. Doctor Sherwood bases his conclusions on observations made at Haskell Institute, at Lawrence, Kan., on questionnaires sent to nearly 100 Indian agencies, and on the testimony of 84 physicians who have had many years

Tracked by the Police

Copyright, 1926, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"TRACKED BY THE POLICE," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
In France Jimmy Ford adopts a police puppy, names it Rin-Tin-Tin and smuggles it home. Murtagh, a crooked politician, covets Jimmy's sweetheart, Ruth Allen. Jimmy's father, a New York police lieutenant, is mysteriously murdered. Jimmy joins the force to avenge him. Jimmy has an ally in Rinty, now full-grown. Murtagh, fearing Jimmy, has him assigned to the deadline neighborhood of the Hudson Busters, a gang he secretly leads. After a heroic fight with the gang Jimmy is made a sergeant. The gang take an oath to get even with Jimmy and Rinty. Murtagh has a foxy plan—

CHAPTER IX
Not without reason was the girl who lived alone and luxuriously in a suite in the best hotel that Chelsea could boast, known as "New York Nell." She was as typical of New York as the Battery; as little old New "Yorker" as the east side and west side pavements that had become sentimentally and songfully associated with the name of Governor Al; she was as Gotham as Times Square and as Manhattan as the gas tanks of Avenue A—and equally at home in either neighborhood.

The Chelsea waterfront under-world knew full well it was Dan the Dude's money that maintained her in such high living style, especially in those days when her nimble fingers, sharpened to sensitiveness by the emory paper of early poverty, were not extracting their usual toll of well filled New York wallets. But Nell, despite her rise in the underworld, to where she had become the recognized "lady friend," or "trail," of Dan Murtagh, insisted upon living an active share in the gang's operations. That was due to her sheer gamin's love of excitement, of thrills. "Nell's the greatest female pickpocket since the days of 'Frisco Fanny!'" the Central office men were apt to say.

"Is it brains, Dan, or brass that you mean?"

Be that as it may, she was not at all devoid of the usual feminine attributes of vanity, of desire for male attention, of need for affection. Nell loved Dan Murtagh, not was her power to love anyone below the similar power of her less sinful sisters. Love is neither governed nor gauged by vocation, other things being equal. Whether or not Dan Murtagh loved Nell was something that none of the Busters had ever been able to find out, though they took it for granted. He maintained her in affluence, and that in the underworld is the usually accepted evidence of true love! Furthermore, in the underworld love is taken as a very serious matter. A great deal more so than in higher strata of society. No gunman will cut in on another gangster's "trail," and while they will boast of their killings and their stick-ups and their night club conquests, and while they will without compunction squeal on a pal to save their own precious hides, they will not gossip about that pal's love affair.

Thus Murtagh's affair with Nell never came to be general public knowledge in Chelsea; never came, in fact, to the attention of the police, so important did the underworld stool pigeons and sources of information consider such a thing as a love affair, and so marvelously well did Dan cover any signs that might direct the lay attention to his association with Nell. Indeed, even his political cronies and colleagues never suspected that Dan Murtagh was anything but a respectable bachelor, who maybe had an infrequent night out with a show girl or a model, but for the rest was one of the pillars of Father Clancy's church, where his name was always at the top of the coal and the monthly and Easter collection lists. Oh, but if the good Father had only known what

Sardonyx Also Associated With Religion.

The sardonyx, the natal stone for August, is the gem of self-control. It is symbolic of matrimonial bliss, and according to ancient belief, girls born in August will never marry if they fail to wear this stone. The sardonyx is under the heavenly Leo of the Zodiac, the sign of sensation and feeling, and to it is attributed the power of banishing grief and woe. As late as the Middle Ages sardonyx was used as a remedy for scrofula and other skin diseases, and even today it is employed in Persia as a cure for epilepsy.

This stone was first made fashionable in Rome by Scipio Africanus, the elder, two centuries before Christ, who, it is said, believed in its spiritual virtue. Throughout its history sardonyx has been associated with religion, for it was one of the stones in the breastplate of the ancient Hebrews and is mentioned in Revelations as forming a part of the foundation of the holy city. The ancient Egyptians carved from this stone the sacred scarab, which was a sign of their religion, much in the same way as the cross is the symbol of Christianity.

Sardonyx is a variety of chalcedonic quartz composed of different colored layers. In its commonest form it exhibits sard, reddish brown in color, alternating with white chalcedony, the latter formerly called onyx. This stone, however, not infrequently displays as many as four or five colors, and by artificial processes lasting and pleasing color effects may be had in the various shades of yellow, red, brown and orange. This artistic display of colors makes it highly desirable for cameo manufacture, since the different layers are utilized appropriately in the finished engraving. Many of the famous cameos of history are cut from this stone. In olden times the requirements for a high-grade sardonyx cameo was a black base for humility, a white zone for virtue and a layer of red or brown for fearlessness, but many of the latter cameos cut in this stone display as many as five differently colored zones. The largest known sardonyx cameo, a five-layer stone, 12 by 16 inches, was formerly in the possession of Cardinal Cragena, but is now in the Vatican at Rome. The famous Sainte Chapelle, 11 by 13 inches, the second largest sardonyx cameo, was also a five-layer stone. This cameo, now in the Bibliotheque Nationale at Paris, was long thought to typify the triumph of Joseph in Egypt and was regarded as a sacred relic.

Perhaps the most famous stone cameo in history was a sardonyx upon which Queen Elizabeth's portrait was cut. According to tradition, this cameo was set in the famous ring which she gave the earl of Essex as a pledge of her friendship. When sentenced to death, Essex sent this ring to his cousin, Lady Scroop, to deliver to Elizabeth. By mistake the messenger gave the ring to Lady Scroop's sister, Countess Nottingham, an enemy of the earl; the vengeful countess did not deliver the talismanic ring and in consequence the fated earl was executed. The Countess Nottingham confessed this act of vengeance to Elizabeth when the countess was on her deathbed, which, according to the chroniclers of Elizabeth's life history, so infuriated the queen that she shook the dying noblewoman, saying, "God may forgive you, but I cannot."

Old Sol Has Fever
According to Martin G.H. Argentine meteorologist, the sun is now suffering from an attack of eruptive fevers which has disturbed the electromagnetic of our planet and has been the cause of the heat waves, floods, earthquakes and other extreme conditions experienced in the northern hemisphere. "The sun," says the scientist, "is always feverish, but it is now in the throes of a very severe attack. The sun spots show us that a most titanic solar agitation is taking place. Calculations show us that such agitations in the sun occur in cycles of about 350 years. The Argentine authority thinks the present one will continue until 1928.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Too Risky
While Grant and Leota Whytock were in France with Rex Ingram, they naturally made a number of friends, many of whom took great pride in their family histories. One family in particular had an album of which it was very proud and when the opportunity presented itself, nothing would do but that Grant and Leota must see the pictures.
"And this one," said the hostess, after an interval, "was killed in a feud."
"How distressing," exclaimed Leota. "I always feel nervous myself, when I ride in one of those cheap cars.—Los Angeles Times.

of experience in treating Indians. Only 12 of the 84 physicians reported ever having found the disease among Indians, 6 were in doubt and 66 reported that they had never observed it among their patients.

Baby, Don't Suck Thumb

A nation of bulldog jaws and prominent chins were promised America if mothers keep the baby's thumb out of his mouth by Dr. W. Stanley Wilkinson of Melbourne, Victoria, Australia, at the session of the first international orthodontic congress. "Thumb-sucking, even to a slight degree during the first six months of life, has a direct inhibiting action on the normal growth of the mandible or lower jaw. During the first six months of life we should get a much accelerated growth of the mandible as opposed to the maxilla, or upper jaw," she said.

Only Two Kinds

George F. Baker, the New York capitalist, sailing for Europe recently, left munificent presents behind for all his employees.
"And all his employees are good ones," a New York banker said, "for Mr. Baker is quite right in his belief that much of his success is due to his skill in choosing men to work for him."
"From the employer's point of view," he explained to me one day, "there are just two kinds of men in the world—the kind that grow with responsibility, and the kind that swell."

Storks Forsaking Germany

Germans are worried by the disappearance of storks. In the north of Germany the number has decreased sensibly, and in central Germany it has fallen off to about half that of former times. In some parts of Germany there are only one-third as many stork nests as once there were. "What are we going to do about children if the storks desert us altogether?" ask the Germans. But persons who watch the birth rate say that the growth in population does not seem to have been affected by the absence of storks. Perhaps, though, the storks have decided to make their homes in lands where population encouragement is more needed.—Chicago Daily News.

STOCKS IN DRASTIC DECLINE
New York, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Stocks experienced the most drastic decline seen since the break of last March today in the two hours trading. Many traders who had become alarmed over the extent of the downward movement made haste to throw overboard their long holdings while others who were unable to put up additional margins had their accounts liquidated by the firms carrying them.
In addition cotton was under pressure again and descriptions of trade conditions by the weekly mercantile reviews were tinged by the greatest pessimism they have experienced in more than a year. As a result selling of stocks was pushed with great urgency and the principal speculative issues suffered further sharp breaks.
General Motors, Steel, Allied Chemical and other leaders of the summer rise broke to new lows on the reaction and quick drops took place in various industrial specialties. Rails were also held at the close.
The market closed higher.

Motors Stand High Heat
Small motors on such devices as electric fans can heat up to high temperatures in service without damage. It is estimated that a temperature running up to 185 degrees Fahrenheit is not destructive. The appearance of smoke from the motor case or the detection of the odor of burning insulation are the only indications of grief in the motor, and these seldom occur.

World's Meat Consumption
According to an English journal, Americans are the greatest meat eaters of the world with an average per capita consumption of 175 pounds a year. The largest part of this meat is beef, although the English, known as beef eaters, average only 110 pounds of meat. The French eat only half as much as the English, and the consumption is still less in Germany, Austria and Italy.

Has Several Broods
There is no native bird which attempts to equal the mourning dove in domestic accomplishments, says the Nature Magazine. Its breeding season extends from early May until late September, and, if fate is lenient with the frail establishment of the bird, three or four broods may be raised to maturity with scarcely a pause between each family.

The American Indian is naturally immune to scarlet fever, believes Dr. N. P. Sherwood, of the University of Kansas, who has made an extensive study of the disease among Indians. Doctor Sherwood bases his conclusions on observations made at Haskell Institute, at Lawrence, Kan., on questionnaires sent to nearly 100 Indian agencies, and on the testimony of 84 physicians who have had many years
